CARMEL BUSINESS ASSOCIATION
Carmel-by-the-Sea, California
July 27, 1942

To Members of the City Council
Carmel By The Sea, California.
Gentlemen:

We, the undersigned, are Directors of the Carmel Business Association, and are writing you to advise that we have given serious consideration to the Bond Election called for August 18th, 1942, to vote $10,000.00 for Fire Fighting Equipment for Carmel.

It is our belief that this is the opportune time to buy this new equipment, and that the Bond Issue should be allowed by the voters of this community. We do not anticipate any serious situation developing, but if one should occur we should have the advantage of good equipment for our most efficient Fire Department. We also feel that we should have this new equipment for the normal safety from fires as our community exists under unusual conditions, and with this added war situation, we certainly should provide adequate modern equipment to our department.

It is our intention to urge our membership as well as all voters to go to the polls and vote August 18th, and to vote in favor of this $10,000.000 Bond Issue.

We are not in favor of loading down the tax-payers with Bond Issues for projects that are not needed during this period of emergency, and do not mean to leave the impression that we would be in favor of other issues that might be proposed—we would investigate each one as presented and give our considered opinion at that time. We feel we have been very sensible in this community not to get the City of Carmel By The Sea loaded down by a large bonded indebtedness.

Harold L. Nielsen
Victor D. Graham

Yours very truly,

Frank Ross Gets Recognition at Marine School

Only two months ago Frank F. Ross, son of Judge and Mrs. George P. Ross, enrolled in the San Francisco Merchant Marine School, and now, after winning the highest honor the school awards, is on active duty.

Frank Ross was singled out for recognition among 165 cadets. First he became a section leader with command of 24 students. Next he was promoted to executive officer of the school, and finally he moved up to Cadet Commander with command of the entire personnel.

After six months of active duty, he will go to New York for eight months more of training and then he will be commissioned an officer in the Naval Reserve and will be on call for duty on any vessel, Naval or merchant.

SOLDIERS' POETRY

In the near future the Pine Cone Poetry column plans to devote space to the work of soldiers, sailors and airmen. We have reason to believe the column will be of a high standard of excellence, and we are inviting contributions from Army, Navy and fliers for consideration.

Helen, Coolidge,
Poetry Editor.

Snack Blueprints Are Shelved by City Council

City Council meeting Wednesday night was again concerned with liquor problems.

Following City Clerk Saidee Van Brower's reading of a letter from the Denny Watrous management thanking the city for its contribution of $100 to the Bach Festival, Floyd Adams, building inspector, presented Frank Phillips' plans for the interior remodeling of the Snack.

Since the matter of the granting of the license to Phillips is still in abeyance—the city has protested to the state board of equalization and requested a protest meeting be held—the presenting of the blueprints at this time was a tactical error.

The council disposed of the embarrassment by postponing action. Mary Jepp, representing the American Women Volunteer Ser-

FOR A SMELL OF INK

Ross and Thelma Miller, former owners of the Pine Cone, in town yesterday on a brief business visit, stopped at the Pine Cone to greet friends and prowl around the shop, soaking up the metal and ink atmosphere.

They returned today to their ranch at Witter Springs, Lake County.

Julius Caesar opens tonight for a three days' run at the Forest Theater. This is the first production of the 1942 Shakespeare Festival, and will be followed two weeks later by Twelfth Night. Both plays have been prepared for this year's Festival in streamlined versions running only an hour and a half, and performances will begin promptly at 7:30, making them practically twilight shows, which should have special charm in the beautiful Forest Theater. The soft pines and lovely oak trees, the great stone fireplaces, the curved redwood benches, the background of evening sky spangled with early stars, the fine setting for the plays on the stage itself, with the wide proscenium built by nature in the forms of two magnificent pines—all should be newly and strangely appealing in the soft twilight of the forest.

Jap Plane Part, Pearl Harbor Relic Arrives in Carmel

A piece of a sky blue Japanese airplane shot down at Pearl Harbor has been brought to Carmel by Irvin Foster, former fireman here, who has just returned from Honolulu.

The plane was bagged by anti-aircraft guns of the U. S. S. Curtis and the piece of aluminum, five by eighteen inches, picked up by a friend of Foster's and given to him when he arrived to do electrical work at Pearl Harbor shortly after Dec. 7.

The aluminum, no thicker than a sauce pan, bears the numbers 99 and 3170, and six Japanese letters in black. They are on the blue side, the under surface is unpainted. It is crossed with rows of small rivets.

The Carmel Hardware store has it on exhibit and the proprietors, Bill Burke and Bill France, say it presents "an awful job of riveting."

Harris Remembers the Tsar, Typhus in Siberia, Kerensky, Scheussnig—and He Wants to Grow Old in Carmel

When E. L. Harris, retired U. S. consul, first went to Russia, the Tsar was sitting cosily on his throne and everything appeared to be lovely. A few months later Harris, in the National Hotel in Moscow, was tunneling through the wall of the lobby after a piece of sausage.

Forty years in the United States consular service discovers many latent powers in a man, especially when he spends four years as consul general of Siberia.

Now retired, happy and "trying to be a kindly old man", Harris, in Carmel since October, hopes to return after a visit to Vancouver. Recently Harris granted The Pine Cone-Cymbal an interview at his home on Carmelo. He smokes cigars incessantly but even without them he is a duplicate of Winston Churchill in appearance.

And like Churchill, Harris has great admiration for the Russians' ability to resist. He likes the Russians.

C. D. Spends $3,921, First Seven Months

* In the seven months since its organization the Carmel Civilian Defense has spent $3,921.77 according to an audit made by Peter Mawdsley at the request of Mayor Evans.

On that sum of money it has set up a headquarters and control center, organized the town into a C. D. unit of 700 workers, provided the workers with equipment they would need to be effective in an emergency, provided for the training and instruction in the use of equipment, and contributed to the maintenance of the rationing board and the central coordinator's office.

Of the $3,921.77 spent, $1,823.64 was required for office operation. Much of this was initial expense that will not be repeated monthly, such as the installation of telephones including a direct line to the Sheriff's office, printing and mimeographing orders and directions for the instruction of the public in C. D. regulations. Salaries make up one of the lesser items since the entire organization has only two paid officers, the secretary who received $55 a month, the chief warden, $50, the latter allowed for the first time last month.

The rest of the outlay, $2,098.13 has been largely for the purchase of equipment and supplies, expenditures that in most cases will not be repeated.

Broken down, the items read,

CD and Police to Enforce Dim-Out In New Orders

This morning block wardens in Carmel will tack up on posts and trees, a document that begins: Headquarters Western Defense Command and Fourth Army, Presidio of San Francisco, California, PUBLIC PROCLAMATION NO. 10, to the people within the States of Washington, Oregon and California, and to the Public Generally:

WHEREAS:

What follows boils down to: As the dim out of March 2 was not legally enforceable, J. L. DeWitt, Lieutenant General, U. S. Army, by virtue of the authority vested in him by the President of the United States and the Secretary of War is himself issuing dim-out orders making violation a federal offense, and he is asking the Civilian Defense and the local police authorities to see to its enforcement.

Like Chop Suey Everything Gets On Police Cards

This week the police department handled twenty complaints that ranged in importance from the case of the prowler who was apprehended and then released when he proved to be a dog investigating a garbage can, to the case of a soldier who passed a bad check on a local merchant using stolen credentials as identification papers.

C. J. Williamson reported that $15 had been stolen from his unlocked car parked at the mouth of the Carmel River.

Ralph Weiss, aged 9, was bitten by the same dog that attacked Sergeant Nathan C. Lampe. Police Officer Ed. Jelich was also chewed when he caught the dog and turned it over to the pound where it will be held under observation for rabies.

Harry Gates, a resident of Colorado, staying at the Pine Inn reported his car stolen from in front of La Playa. Police found the car abandoned two blocks farther down the street.

Mrs. Franklin Scott Gibbings of Palo Alto was taken to the Community Hospital in the Red Cross Ambulance to be treated for bruises when struck by the car nerve," said Harris. "They are very brave and can withstand untold amounts of heat and cold, torture, famine, typhus, and most anything else. They have had an excellent background for what they are going through now."

"There are no Fifth Columnists in all that country, probably not one."

"I think Hitler, hoping there would be some, was banking on them. The Germans had quite a bit to do with stirring up the revolution in 1917, but they have no foothold inside the country this time."

Blagovyeshchensk

Harris expects the Japanese to attack in Siberia at Blagovyeshchensk on the Amur River. Siberia is twice the size of the United States with 9,000,000 inhabitants. Anything that is done in the winter, when it is around 77 degrees below zero, will be to the Russians' advantage because the Japanese don't like the cold and haven't—at least, didn't for—

THE DOGS DO BARK

Carmel's Dogdom is abuzz with excitement over the new Jo Mora Map of Carmel, past and present, for among the very interesting features and facts of Village Life pictured there are a number of the famous old-timers in Carmel's canine history who have helped give the Village its color and personality. The well-remembered canine characters who have been thus immortalized by Jo Mora's inimitable brush and pen are:

BESS, the Pioneer, whose passion was livery stables and the ponies.

TINY Arndt, who waited by the barber chair "for a piece of ear or something."

BROWNIE Overstreet, who was a familiar figure on Ocean Avenue packing a "Pine Cone" in his mouth.

RAGS Bechdolt, the dog with a smile.

BROWNIE Hopper, "a real Bum," the subject of Jimmy Hopper's story "Brownie the Faithless" Pictorial Review.

TEDDY Goold, who was Heavy-weight Champion "until age and embonpoint lost him the crown."

CAPTAIN Grizzly, who was also a scrapper, who would go to town wearing a muzzle until some kind-hearted lady would take it off, and Captain would carry the muzzle home.

MIKE Mora, who could climb a rung-ladder like a chimney-sweep and wore little leather moccasins in foxtail time.

BOBBY Durham, who had a charge account and did his own shopping at the Butchers.

REX Hodges, who was half coyote but "a one-man dog."

And of course, as no account of Carmel's canine "Who's Who" would be complete without our beloved PAL, "The Town Dog," he is right in the middle of the map in a special spot between Old Gus and the Carmel Follies Beauties. Jo Mora has caught PAL in a delightfully characteristic pose with one hind leg vigorously scratching his plump side.

Ever since the fascinating Mora Map appeared, a feeling of nostalgia has swept Carmel's Dogdom and there has been many a sigh and a tear for the "auld acquaintances," and the "days of auld lang syne."

There is a dark and lovely charmer in the Village who is playing havoc with the hearts of local beaux. She is LADY PRECIOUS STREAM MacElroy and she belongs to Commander and Mrs. Kenneth MacElroy who brought her from Panama. LADY PRECIOUS STREAM is from a fine old Panamanian family and has lots of that Central American charm. Si, Si! She was married to a Major down there, but take heart, boys, she has been divorced for some time.

LADY PRECIOUS STREAM, being a Navy girl, has traveled about a great deal and seen much of the world, but she thinks Carmel is as delightful a place as she has seen. The fact that her mistress, Ruth Marion MacElroy, has lived here, off and on, for some years may have something to do with her liking it so much or perhaps it is that dashing Cocker at the corner.

PENNY Hartsook was quite a picture the other day when she appeared on Ocean Avenue wearing a fetching blue sweater. The color was a perfect compliment to her golden hair.

Other girls may chose organdie and flowered chiffon for their summer wardrobes but PENNY has found that wool is best suited to our cool summer weather. "It isn't quite as warm here as it was in Honolulu where I used to live," she confessed, through chattering teeth, as she pulled her little sweater closer about her.

Like a true knight of old, in shining armor, SIR GALAHAD Mercurio goes about the Village looking for a Damsel in Distress to save—but to his very great disappointment, GALAHAD has found that Carmel girls are quite self-sufficient and don't need much rescuing.

"In fact," he unhappily confided to his master, Paul Mercurio, the other day, "they all belong to the Motor Corps or the A. W. V. S., or something, and like to do the rescuing themselves. Things have come to a pretty pass when a perfectly good knight errant has to run for his life from some fragile but determined damsel who wants to take him to her First Aid class as the 'victim.'"

Carmel Artist Points Out New Priorities Problem

The Pine Cone Cymbal is in receipt of a note from one of the Carmel artists headed, "Of 'Priority' Importance to Artists."

It reads in part:

"Since the outbreak of war in the Far East, especially in Celebes, Macassar, Kuala Lumpur, Timor, Mindanao, Batangas, no pig bristles have been coming from the Orient. The majority of artists' paint brushes are made from pig bristles.

"Devoe and Reynolds Co., Inc." has launched a nation-wide campaign for collection of old or used paint brushes. This salvage campaign for old paint—bristle—brushes carries a cash incentive.

"Devoe and Reynolds will pay ten cents to $2.00 per brush. Direct shipments to "Superklean Brush Reclamation Plant" Louisville, Ky.

"The old pig bristles will be placed in a synthetic setting made from dureza phenolic resin."

War Chest Board Moves to Combine All Fund Appeals

The recently formed Executive Committee of the Monterey Peninsula War Chest Advisory Board held a joint meeting with officials and members of the Community Chest Monday evening, August 3, at the City Hall in Monterey.

All present agreed in the opinion that the best course would be to combine all appeals, with the

Pine Cone Staff Member Eats Flag Garden Products

Three Carmel Women are responsible for a red-white-and-blue garden that can be eaten. Mrs. Lena Brake's front yard and house furnish the locale. Miss Margaret Clark provided the seed and the work of Miss Adeline Grey made it possible.

Blue flax blooms in the foreground, red flowers of the scarlet runner and white blossoms of the Kentucky Wonder string beans growing over the front porch complete the flag picture, and the white stripes of the flag make excellent eating as one member of the Pine Cone Cymbal staff can testify, the one that took home and cooked the Louisiana Girl string beans that Miss Grey brought into the office, and the editor exhibited on her desk in the spot occupied the preceding week by Plantsmith's cannon ball cabbage.

The editor feels now the Pine Cone Cymbal can announce with confidence that it is a genuine country weekly.

exception of the Red Cross, in one unified campaign this year. The War Chest Advisory Board will therefore request the Community Chest care as formerly of all local agency needs, while the War Chest decides which war relief agencies it will include in its list.

The following were present at the meeting Monday evening: D. T. MacDougal, T. A. Work, Jr., Eben Whittlesey, Mark Keller, Kit Whitman, Emmett McMennamin, Robert Stanton, Marian Todd, Mrs. Edwin Dames, Mrs. Joseph Catherwood, G. K. Cunningham, Guy S. Curtis, Corum B. Jackson, Mrs. C. F. H. Jarvis and R. J. Quigley.

Bob Ritchie Dies After "Covering" World 40 Years

Robert Welles Ritchie, one of the most colorful figures of the glamorous age of journalism, is dead.

He died Sunday at his home in Hatton Fields after an illness which had kept him confined to his bed for over two years but his keen mind remained alert to the romance of life till the end. Only a few days ago he was joking about how his friends accused him of still being a Peter Pan, and in the best sense, he was. Until his death he could relish the drama of life and the whimsicality of human behavior. More than anything else Bob Ritchie was interested in life's color and he had the rare gift of making people feel what he saw.

And he had seen a great deal for one life time: Ghandi sticking one "ostrich foot" out of a sleek black limousine to the London pavement, the entire city of Nantes drunk in celebration of the last armistice. He went to Labrador to meet Peary on his way back from the North Pole. He saw the Russo-Japanese war and political crises in London and Paris and the Mexican revolution of 1911. Ritchie had drunk tea in a Japanese garden with Hirohito and champagne with Laval. He saw the end of World War I and covered the Versailles peace conference.

He had worked under the legendary tyrant of newspapermen, "Uncle" Charlie Chapin of the New York World, long since dead in Sing Sing after a conviction of murder. Ritchie still laughed when he recalled the great Chapin, who, as he stalked about the city room, sang hymns between his curses. Bob Ritchie went to Oakland high school with Jack

Carmel School Boys Assist War Effort Building Planes

Work was completed recently on the fifty scale model airplanes—an order from the Navy department—at the Carmel High School.

These planes, part of the 500,000 similar planes made in high schools throughout the United States, will be used in naval training centers by prospective pilots.

Work was begun here in March and ever, since the beginning of vacation, several boys have spent many hours working in the high school shop that Carmel might fill its quota, announced Clayton Schuttish, local director of the project.

Star model maker has been Clive Rayne, 13 year old eighth grader, who has completed eight planes of excellent craftsmanship. These included planes from three nations and of at least two different types. This earned for him the rank of Lt. Commander Aircraftman. Ranks are bestowed by the Chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, Admiral J. H. Taucers.

Harris Remembers Tsar, Typhus in Siberia

While Harris was in Siberia, his vice consuls got typhus and so did men and women Red Cross workers whom he helped to bury. He has made 15 trips across the Trans-Siberian railway. He has been in many a "shoot up" over the world but the worst was the six day stay in Moscow's National Hotel during the hottest part of the revolution. Harris kept from starving by burrowing through walls into a near-by delicatessen.

Knew Lenin
He knew Kerensky well—had a day's visit with him only two years ago—and used to have frequent interviews with Lenin.

Harris speaks Russian, French, German, Swedish and modern Greek: his adventures have by no means been confined to the U.S.-S.R. He has been stationed in China, Japan, Singapore, Smyrna, Stockholm and spent 19 years in Austria. He knew Dolfuss and Scheussnig very well and while Dolfuss was being killed, Harris was standing outside the building.

The Balkans remind Harris of many game cocks put into a small space.

Among people Harris has known is also Fritz Weidemann. Speak of Weidemann's spying activities, Harris said, "What does any consul do?" Speaking of Germans, Harris, who graduated from Heidelberg, recalled that there is an old German proverb which says the trees in no one's garden ever reach the sky.

A great grandfather, Harris has a grandson in the Marines. Another grandson was lost in action two months ago.

If you mention the "last war" to Harris, he asks, "Which?" He thinks it is very nice not to do anything and to live in Carmel.

CD Spends $3,900 in First Seven Months

"Wardens' Stations and Field Equipment," $949.66 and include 30 back pump spray tanks, $247.20; rope, tools, welder's gloves, first aid kits, helmets, block warden's signs, etc.

"Other Equipment and Supplies," $551.57; 15 back pumps for the fire department, equipment for the control center, siren change for blackout signal, various field supplies.

"Miscellaneous," $596.90: Cost of blacking out the post office, expense to training schools, arms and ammunition, freight, express, janitor, etc.

Though much of the above expense will not be recurrent, new items will occur from time to time over which the local CD has little control such as the 30 signs the CD will have to buy at a cost of $4.00 apiece to designate the dim out areas throughout the city as a result of the dim-out proclamation issued this week by General De Witt.

Fund for the payment of the expenses of the past seven months have come from three sources: the city, allowing $2,704.58; from the general fund; the county which paid $424.40 as its pro-rata share on equipment, and $360 total out of the monthly budget; and a "salvage" fund of $700 raised through sale of scrap materials, donation and benefits of which $432.79 was used.

Male Chorus Entertained

The Peninsula Male Chorus, which has been practicing throughout the summer, held a rehearsal Tuesday at Jaffery Harris' home with duets by Beth Dean and Ann Burrows and refreshments as special features.

The chorus is rehearsing a program which it will give for the public in the fall.

Bundles for Britain

We are still sending bundles to Britain, not so many and not individually, but the Red Cross and British Relief through which Bundles for Britain gets transportation, still send when space is available.

But we are now asking help in a PAINT BRUSH SALVAGE DRIVE. Give us your gummed and dried paint brushes, worn or not, which you will only throw away when you start your painting for the Winter rains. Anything from a 2 inch width up. We can sell them for reconditioning and the money is needed in endless ways: to buy hospital equipment or to help rebuild the blitzed hospitals themselves, also to help British seamen landing on our Atlantic shores almost daily. We have heard from Florida that literally hundreds of seamen have been outfitted there this past Winter.

Imagine yourselves cast ashore after harrowing experiences of being torpedoed and bombed, adrift for days and then landing with water soaked garments, no money and lucky if not wounded or ill from exposure! Wouldn't you be thankful for help? Old clothes to be sure, but warm and comfortable, old shoes—broken in for them, so they don't pinch anywhere! And the price of a ticket to the nearest seaport to try again to take guns and shells to our U. S. troops overseas.

So do remember to bring your old suits, shirts and shoes, your paint brushes—all such humble helpers, but none the less needed for Bundles for Britain, Headquarters on Dolores at Seventh. They will help a vital cause.

Vital for Victory.
Edith D. Skene, Chairman.

Getsingers to Bring Exhibit
When Wilson and Helen Getsinger return from La Jolla Aug. 25, they will bring with them a collection of the desert paintings of the late Harry G. Shriner which they will exhibit here.

CD Salvage Drive Instructions by Chairman Gilbert

Special instructions for the CD salvage drive starting Monday were issued today by Salvage Chairman, John Gilbert.

Current magazines in good condition may be taken to the Red Cross Office on Dolores St., and they will be sent to the soldiers. The Public Library is making a good drive for interesting books for the soldiers. Any such books may be left at the library.

Paper and old magazines, scrap paper or cartoons: There is no demand for them at present. If householders wish to save newspapers and will tie them in small bundles they may be left at the Plaza Fuel Company. But if possible store them at home until a call is made for them.

Tin cans: To be left in box designated for them in vacant lot next to Post Office. They must be: 1st—washed; 2nd—Labels removed; 3rd—Both ends cut out and turned in; 4th—flattened out by standing on them and then put in cartons.

Tin foil can be left at the Civilian Defense Registration Bureau. Please leave it flat. Don't roll it into balls. It can also be left at Bundles for Bluejackets on Dolores Street.

Metal: All kinds to be left in box marked "Scrap Metal" in vacant lot next to Post Office. If anyone has scrap metal too large for private transportation, if they will make a note of what it is, and where it is, Mr. Gilbert will try to arrange transportation.

Rubber: To be left in box marked "Rubber" in vacant lot next to Post Office.

Fat may be saved in 1 or 2 lb. coffee tins and when full taken to the butcher and sold if he wishes to buy it, or it may be given to him.

Toys and good clothes, shoes may be taken to Red Cross, Bundles for Bluejackets on Dolores St. or Salvation Army.

Rags: No local demand except Charities—Red Cross, Bundles for Bluejackets, Salvation Army.

As demand arises for scrap materials not now needed, the public will be notified.

Friends, Romans, Countrymen

The Theater is three blocks from the northeast corner of the Plaza. Running diagonally from Ocean Avenue at the foot of the hill, Mountainview Avenue leads directly to the automobile and pedestrian entrances to the Theater. Ample parking space is provided inside the high picket fences, where cars may be safely left during the performance.

The cast for Julius Caesar includes some of Carmel's most experienced actors. Noel Sullivan, tall, dignified and rich-voiced, is Brutus. Sullivan has given many outstanding portrayals in recent years. Warren Keith Thomas, a well-trained actor of emotional and mental gifts, is Cassius. Herbert Heron, who has played Shakespeare from his early youth, is Mark Antony. In the title role of Julius Caesar the audience will be gratified by the strong and finely human characterization of W. B. Williams. The blunt and slightly humorous role of Casca is excellently played by Milton Stitt. Robert Anderson is a suave and wily Decius. Other conspirators are Michael Abbott as Metellus Cimber, Cecil Haskell as Trebonius, Alec Gibson as Cinna, Hal Bernard is Artemidorus, Paul Gosney paints the fleeting portrait of Popilius; Cecil Smith etches the character of the Soothsayer; Fred Robbins gives a nice touch of humor to the part of the old Cobbler.

Portia, wife of Brutus, is acted by Barbara Stitt, who has played so well many parts in past Festivals; Calpurnia, the wife of Caesar, is done with deep emotion by Wilma Bott; Servius, the boy who brings the message from Antony to the conspirators, is beautifully played by Maxine Chevalier, from the Pasadena Playhouse; the boy Lucius is nicely done by Eric Short.

The Roman Citizens—the stars in the great firmament of this powerful political drama—are in the capable hands of Clark Wallace, Fritz Wurzmann, Lillian Locke, Elizabeth Paine, Edward Filpula, Marie Fonteneau, Beth Morgan and Sidney Barnes.

Herbert Heron, the regular producer of the Shakespeare Festival, is this year also directing both plays. He has designed an impressive setting for the play. Construction is in the hands of Ann Millis, with Fred Locke and others assisting. The Forest Theater has been famous from its beginning for its varied and beautiful stage sets, combining nature and art in delightful ways.

Colorful and striking costumes have been designed by Helena Heron and made by Iva Rogers.

Tickets may be secured in advance, for either or both productions of the Festival, at The Sketch Box, in the main court of the Seven Arts. Prices range from 50 cents to a dollar, plus tax. Where season tickets (that is, seats for the two plays) are purchased in advance, there is a saving of twenty-five per cent.

Performances will commence at 7:30. The box office at the Theater will be open at 6:30 on the evenings of performance.

Abbott, Costello "Rio" Revival

As long as America can laugh, it will be at merriment such as appears in the show that is opening on Sunday, "Rio Rita," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's contribution to laugh-loving Americans, stars Bud Abbott and Lou Costello, zanier than ever as they hysterically pursue a band of spies through a resort hotel. Music and romance are provided by Kathryn Grayson and John Carroll, whose love story reaches the "happy ending" stage through the bungling efforts of the comedians.

"The Feminine Touch" brings together a flock of stars in Rosalind Russell, Don Ameche, Kay Francis and Van Heflin. The provocative story is based on Ameche's conviction that jealousy is stupid and unnecessary. But his wife proves that it is complicated and that it is something two people cannot escape when they are in love. From this develops a four-cornered love tangle and highlighted by a series of domestic complications. This comedy along with "Butch Minds the Baby" is on the Carmel Theatre screen Wednesday and Thursday.

The Friday and Saturday pictures are "The Invaders." Three great stars portraying once-in-a-lifetime. Laurence Olivier, Leslie Howard and Raymond Massey are

Jose Cansino Son of Famed Spanish Dancing Family

The coming recital of the Jose Cansino Spanish Dance Troupe in the Sunset School Auditorium, Carmel, on next Friday evening, August 14, heralds exciting entertainment. Jose Cansino has the verve and dynamic ability of a great dancer, and he stems from a family of dancers. He is an uncle of Rita Hayworth, film star, and descendant of the famous family of Cansinos, dancers for generations in Spain.

With castanets, tambourines and cymbals, Cansino and his brilliant supporting company, will present a program of comic peasant dances, gypsy numbers and classical dances of Madrid. Authentic and elaborate costumes will enhance the colorful evening.

Carmen Morales, beautiful ballerina from the Copacabana in Rio de Janeiro, is Cansino's partner. She alone would make the program. The Company also includes Lolita Lopez, the comic jota dancer, Blanca Escalante, the exotic singer of Afro-Cuban rumbas, and Francisco Avellan, pianist.

Following is the program Valenciana, Lolita Lopez; Sevilla, Cansino and Carmen Morales; Maria de la O, Lolita; Saramba, Carmen Morales; El Desafio, Cansino; Songs: Blanca Escalante; Farucca, Cansino and Morales; La Garterana, Lolita; Gitanerias, Cansino and Morales; Piano solo, Avellan; El Sereno, Cansino; La Corrida, Lolita; Sacre Monte, Cansino and Morales; Songs, Blanca Escalante; Bulerias, Morales; La Jota de Alcaniz, Lolita; Rosa de Granada, Cansino and Morales.

Tickets for the Spanish Dance program are on sale by the Denny-Watrous Management at the Carmel Land Company on Ocean Avenue, opposite the Library the three that get the roles of honor.

Dancing feet and shaking shoulders can't keep still now. Why? Because the Andrew Sisters and Harry James are together for one short evening of entertainment, in "Private Buckaroo." Now is the time for all good jitterbugs to come to the show and see and hear Harry James.

Leslie Howard In "Mr. V" Playhouse Bill

The Playhouse is serving savory dishes on its weekend bill of fare. With Leslie Howard's brilliant "Mr. V," a first run for Monterey Peninsula, it is showing the twenty-minute Technicolor film, "La Gaité Parisienne," in which the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo dances the selfsame ballet that this famous company is performing at the very same hour in the War Memorial Opera House in San Francisco as part of its ballet season. As if that were not enough, the Playhouse offers at six thirty an outdoor concert of the recorded Offenbach music which is the basis of the Monte Carlo group's ballet. The film program itself starts at six forty-five. "Mr. V" continues through Monday night.

Tuesday and Wednesday's program brings Claudette Colbert in her poignant but amusing "Remember the Day," and on Thursday, August 13th, H. G. Wells' wellknown novel, "The Remarkable Mr. Kipps," will appear for the first time here in screen form, with Diana Wynyard and Michael Redgrave.

Red Cross Bulletins

By S. L. CORY

The Carmel Chapter Red Cross War Production Room has received an emergency call from the War Department asking us to make 400 embarkation bags. These bags are given to every boy sent overseas at the port of embarkation. As we have just finished a number of these bags we are not able at this time to finance this additional quota but we dislike refusing it as we feel it would be a break in the splendid record our Carmel workers have helped us maintain. We are therefore appealing to the women of Carmel for support in this project.

All women's organizations in this community such as Church Auxiliaries, clubs, and all groups of various kinds as well as individuals are being asked to participate. The National Organization will furnish the twill and tape for the kits free of charge, but each chapter has been asked to make the bags, purchase the contents and fill the kits.

The cost per bag is approximately $1.00 and the contents include soap in a container, razor blades, shoe polishing cloth and laces, pencil, match case, envelopes and paper, playing cards, cigarettes, gum, pocket size book, and a sewing case.

These supplies will be purchased by the Carmel Chapter for you. We feel that this project should be of great interest to the women of Carmel and we are confident that you will cooperate wholeheartedly in making and providing the funds for filling these kits which have been carefully planned to add to the comfort and pleasure of our men in Service. Everyone interested is asked to call at Red Cross Headquarters for further details, or phone 2100.

The following bulletin has been issued by the Red Cross to clarify any misunderstanding on the part of the public as to what relief supplies can be sent to the Far East on the Red Cross relief ship.

Parcels intended for specific prisoners in the Far East are not acceptable for inclusion on the ship to be chartered by the American Red Cross since Red Cross cargo is limited to supplies for general distribution to prisoners of war and civilian internees.

It is probable that mail will be accepted from the post office subject to agreement of belligerents, but it must be remembered that mail for prisoners of war will be acceptable by the post office only if addressee has been officially reported by the enemy as war prisoner or civilian internee.

With limited cargo space available it is necessary to restrict all shipments of relief supplies so that equitable distribution may be made on a share and share alike basis to every Allied Prisoner of war and interned civilian in the hands of the Japanese.

Food packages prepared by the American Red Cross and by the Canadian Red Cross Society will be consigned to the delegate of the International Red Cross Committee in the Far East for final distribution to the various prisoners' camps.

No individually packed parcels for prisoners or interned civilians can be accepted from relatives, friends or organizations since the belligerent powers will not allow distribution of any supplies other than those prepared and shipped by National Red Cross Societies.

Three hundred thousand standard American Red Cross food packages destined to go aboard the first relief ship were ordered many weeks ago and have been held awaiting completion of negotiations for the charter of an International Red Cross cargo vessel to be used in transport of relief supplies to the Far East.

Letters for prisoners of war and interned civilians in the Far East can be sent through regular postal channels after names have appeared on official prisoner lists received from the Japanese authorities through the office of the Provost Marshal General in Washington and next of kin so notified. Until official notification has been received, letters will not be accepted by the postal authorities.

The American Junior Red Cross Takes to the Air: On Wednesday, August 12, at 12:30 p.m. the interesting Columbia Broadcasting System series: "Children Are Also People," will feature Junior Red Cross. A script outlining activities of the membership prepared by National Headquarters Radio Department and presented by young people, will be broadcast at that time on station KQW.

The War Production Room of the Carmel Red Cross announces the arrival of a large shipment of yarn for Army knitting. Please call at Headquarters for the yarn and instructions.

The official opening of the Carmel Red Cross Chapter House on Dolores Street between 7th and 8th, is to take place Saturday afternoon, August 8th, tea will be served and the Board of the Carmel Chapter has extended an invitation to all of Carmel to attend.

JUNK needed for War

In the attics and cellars of homes, in garages, tool sheds, and on farms, is a lot of Junk which is doing no good where it is, but which is needed at once to help smash the Japs and Nazis.

Scrap iron and steel, for example. Old radiators, lengths of pipe, refrigerators, garbage pails, broken garden tools...

It may be rusty, old "scrap" to you, but it is actually refined steel, with most impurities removed—and can be quickly melted with new metal in the form of pig iron to produce highest quality steel for our war machines.

Even in peacetime our Nation relied on scrap to provide about 50% of the raw material for steel. Now production of steel has gone up, up, UP, until today America is turning out as much steel as all the rest of the world combined.

But unless at least 6,000,000 additional tons of scrap steel is uncovered promptly, the full rate of production cannot be attained or increased; the necessary tanks, guns, and ships cannot be produced.

The rubber situation is also critical. In spite of the recent rubber drive, there is a continuing need for large quantities of scrap rubber. Also for other waste materials and metals like brass, copper, zinc, lead, and tin.

America needs your active assistance in rounding up these materials. The Junk which you collect is bought by industry from scrap dealers at established, government-controlled prices.

Will you help?

First—collect all your waste material and pile it up.

Then—sell it to a Junk dealer, give it to a charity, take it yourself to the nearest collection point, or get in touch with your Local Salvage Committee.

If you live on a farm, consult your County War Board or your farm implement dealer.

Throw YOUR scrap into the fight!

JUNK MAKES FIGHTING WEAPONS

One old radiator will provide scrap steel needed for seventeen .30 calibre rifles.

One old lawn mower will help make six 3-inch shells.

One useless old tire will provide as much rubber as is used in 12 gas masks.

One old shovel will help make 4 hand grenades.

MATERIALS NEEDED

Scrap iron and steel.

Other metals of all kinds.

Old rubber.

Rags, Manila rope, burlap bags.

Waste Cooking Fats—Strain into a large tin can and when you get a pound or more, sell to your meat dealer

NEEDED ONLY IN CERTAIN LOCALITIES:

Waste paper and tin cans, as announced locally

NOT NEEDED at this time: Razor blades—glass

OF MEN AND BEASTS

By PHIL NESBITT

It appears that by a mere act of interest, a flow of pertinent subject matter can be released in behalf of that original interest. This column is primarily devoted to the semi social activities of small creatures; bugs and their doings; forest dwellers and their habits; the fish of the sea, their adventures. This is not considered an important side of life. But it is. I illustrate with a potent remark from Boake Carter's moment on the morning radio. He said, in effect: "While the Administration seeks to appoint accountable men to positions of great power, while man himself treads a pathway confounded by human frailty and inevitable bungling, over all persists a power too great to employ or refute . . . that of God Himself." There you have it. God Himself perhaps has a hand in the present tragic or otherwise rise and fall of nations. In other words, an over-all agency may be at work, whacking out the destiny of great masses of mortal beings.

To recognize the presence of God is to confess to the rule of nature. To recognize nature is to admit the sum total import of all living creatures. Bugs and their brothers, vixen and their broods, racoons and their habits are all bound together in the same universal melting pot of reality. Indeed, the lowly ant, infinitely less fortified than the human being, faces the same tempest, rain, heat. When a forest fire levels the cottages of summer time dwellers, it also renders a fatal blow to the forest dwelling places of a great multitude of small beings . . . the animals. I am all for animals. I—and it's an obviously unoriginal thought, suspect man of boundless treachery when compared to the fidelity of animals to their basic selves. Man's superiority has, to this point of existence, given him little ascendancy over the lowest of carnal beasts. That man's wealth and bounty, regardless of cause, should be now turned against himself in destruction, is a frightful thing . . . and against which no pretext or alibi will stand test in the events of the unknown future.

Thus is my original point lost in a confusion of consequent thought channels. I meant—and still mean to point out that much of interest, in line with the purpose of this column, has come to me in response to the expressed interest in small animals. For example, a very pleasant chap mentioned the other day, that another man told him that he had seen a fox (of which there are countless varieties in the county) climbing an apricot tree. The fox had good ideas while aloft. It appears that he shook the branches, causing the fruit to fall into the upturned mouths of the pups waiting upon the ground below. Animals aren't so dumb.

If the average man possessed the determination of the average gopher, the great world would be a much different place. I speak solely of the instinctive qualities of the gopher, in that very few things deter him from his chosen, though meandering path (tunnel). I HAD such a gopher in the garden. I say "had," for suddenly he was not. For an entire period of three years, the gopher in question utterly flourished within the special confines of the garden. What bushes he hadn't already capsized, he had filed for future reference. Steadily, with fine effort, he undermined the whole garden during his one-man-safaris. If the first half foot of soil could have been cleanly lifted at once from the garden area, it probably would have had the appearance of a Mississippi delta.

Becoming overwhelmed by the gopher's determined nature, I revolted and went off down

STRANGE CHEMISTRY

Night voids the emerald of a leaf,
Pulls the silver from a star,
Then brings that white weed moon,
Growing profuse upon a stone or wall,
To reduce the dark amalgam of a tree
By an old kind of chemistry.

—ORIAN DEPLEDGE.

THE WEAVER

With its swiftly moving shuttle
The rain thrusts at my roof,
Close-weaving the warp of earth and sky
With a transitory woof.

—JANICE BLANCHARD.

DAGGER OF GRIEF

Will grief ever be a scar
On the face of memory?

Must it always be a red fire-dagger
Hurled against lungs of night,
Thrust against eyes of day?

Will the dagger ever be sheathed
In the bright scabbard of tomorrow?

—LUCIA TRENT.

SHELTER

Weather's a-brewing in the sky.
The ocean smothers the rocks with foam.
Sunset glints as a sail goes by
And reflection touches a windowed home
That waits to welcome, at end of day,
The fisher-folk from the stormy bay.

Cliffs stand watching a ship at sea
Where the wind blows high and the wind blows free.
Echoing over dunes and sedge
Is the dominant note of a sea-gull's wail,
And beyond the Point, at the water's edge,
Home-lights gleam above the shale.

—GRACE SAYRE.

THE GARDEN TIME FORGOT

God's garden! . . . Oldest living thing!
Sequoia silence holds me bound
And speechless! . . . Here is holy ground—
No whine of wind, no whirr of wing . . .
But listen! Echoic and low —
Lost organ tones from architrave
Resound through redwoods' blue-arched nave —
Hear . . . Diapason . . . tremelo!

We stand in awe—hand pressed to throat—
No whispered word, no whistled note—
Eyes turn where blue of sky meets tree,
While silence sings! . . . Age alchemy:
Our fears, our cares that were, are not! . . .
God's trees! . . . The garden Time forgot!

—BLANCHE DEGOOD LOFTON.

REVIEWS

the hill to Carmel to a hardware store. Here I purchased a trap. I took it back up the hill, set it, and waited the tragic outcome. When the appointed and arbitrary time seemed to have arrived, I searched for the sprung trap. It was gone. The gopher had removed it. He was still flourishing, which fact was attested to by a new series of holes, with nice wide entrances strategically placed. I then made up my mind to give him what the Japanese are said to be using in their warfare. Gas. I got the bombs and set them off, nearly succumbing myself in the process. As if to answer my gesture of annihilation with an even finer retort than before, the gopher immediately went to work on a pleasant enough looking fuchsia bush. In fact, my prize fuchsia bush. I bought another trap. This time I got the pirate. His claws were an inch long. His incisor teeth like those of a Chinese warlord. I laid him on the pine needles in the nearby forest. A hawk, his scream shrilling as he swooped, dropped down from the blue heavens and removed the gopher. A fitting burial for a pirate of the garden patch.

CABBAGES AND THINGS

By PLANTSMITH.

Daughter and I have just completed a bicycle survey (puff, puff) of Carmel, attempting to fill in possible gaps in a list of cottage names I've been compiling over a period of several years. My special notebook is now becoming so dog-eared from use that I will have to copy the names anyway; and with the thought that Pine Cone readers might like to have the list for their clipping files I submit the names for this week's contribution.

Afterthought, Angel Child, Bent Oaks, Bellwood, Broom Cottage, Bird's Nest, Bailiwiki, Crow's Nest, Crest View, Cuddle Doon, Cross Trails, Dunmovin, Demi Tasse, Dancing Oaks, Darby Du, Dun Roamin, Dardanella, Englenook, Footsteps of Spring, Far Horizons, Forest Rest, Garden Gate, Green House, Garden of Shrines, Gopher Hole, Greyoaks, Gardensyde;

Green Dragon, Green Lantern, Gypsy Cottage, Goose Harbor, Garden Nook, Ho Hum, Happy Harbor, Holiday House, Honeysuckle Court, House Port, Home Anchored, House of Walls, Half Pint, House of River Winds, Ivy Gate, Journey's End, Joybell, Locksley Hall, Land Ho, Lofty Perch, Lazycroft, Low Tide, Landfall, Log Haven, Lazy Pine, Little House, Look Out, Make Believe, Mei-Ling, Microbe, Me Too;

Next Door, Oak Nook, Oak Thicket, Outlook, Oak Bower, Pine Knot, Pine Cone, Playhouse, Pine Log, Pine Wood, Point of View, Periwinkle, Postage Stamp, Postscript, Rosy Dawn, Rutgershold, Right Ending, Rock Haven;

Sky View, Skipperlong, Skipper Lodge, Sheltering Pines, Shore House, Secret Door, Sky Way, Step Child, Sand Trap, Sand Box, Spider Web, Surf Echoes, Sea Urchin, Sea Cradle, Shangri La, Sun and Sky, Sunset, Sand and Sea, Sunfast, The Robin, The Paint Pot, The Crum, The Perch, The House that Jack Built, The Winds, The Hum, The Other House, Twin Pines, Twelve Oaks, Tuckaway, Three Hearths, Topside, Trinket, Tree Top, Tall Timbers, Trade Winds, Upper Deck, Viewpoint, Valley View; Whispering Pine, Wee Hoose, White Caps, West Winds, West Windows, Wee Haven, Wild Lilac, Whin Bush.

The above list is far from complete but it represents my collection to date, including many furnished me by Daisy Bostick. I would be very happy to receive postal cards giving additional names for use in a later issue.

Girl Gas Station Attendant Starts at Richfield Pump

Carmel's first girl gas station attendant began work this week. She is Jacquie Zweigart, a sophomore at the University of California, and she is working at the Richfield station on San Carlos.

So far she has been confining her energies to windshields and tires but Manager L. C. Miller plans to let her start soon on gas and oil.

Jacquie prefers horses but she wanted a job and she thinks autos are next best.

Organ selections will include, "Prayer," Guilmar, Chorale: "Praise the Lord, ye Servants," Jan Sweelinck and "Postlude" by Handel.

At 4:00 P. M. Sunday Summer Afternoon Organ Recital with a Mendelssohn program with Alice Lee Keith at the console. All Saints Church welcomes the visitor to Carmel and especially the Service men, their families and friends.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

In all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, a Lesson-Sermon will be read Sunday, August 9, on the subject "Spirit." The Golden Text will be: "Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty." (II Cor. 3: 17).

Bible selections will include the following passages from Matthew 20: 30, 34: "And, behold, two blind men sitting by the way side, when they heard that Jesus passed by, cried out, saying, Have mercy on us, O Lord, thou son of David . . . So Jesus had compassion on them, and touched their eyes: and immediately their eyes received sight, and they followed him."

Passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included, which read as follows: "Sight, hearing, all the spiritual senses of man, are eternal. They cannot be lost. Their reality and immortality are in Spirit and understanding, not in matter, — hence their performance . . . The apprehension of this gave sight to the blind and hearing to the deaf centuries ago, and it will repeat the wonder," (pp 486, 487).

Tatters Will Close After This Week End

The Troupers of the Gold Coast will play their twenty-second and twenty-third and final performances of "Tatters, the Pet of Squatters' Gulch," in the First Theatre, Monterey, this Saturday and Sunday evenings, August 8 and 9. The popular melodrama, which "packed them in" to the last window niche last week-end, will positively close on Sunday evening.

On Thursday night following, August 13, Denny - Watrous Management will present the Troupers in the opening of their new play, "Big-Hearted Jim," or "The Sheriff of Medicine Gulch." Jean Humphrey will carry the part of the much-loved Dora, betrayed by Heulette in a mock marriage. Bob McMenamin will enact Heulette, while the title role of "Jim" will be carried by the able Roland Scheffler.

Other Troupers in the brilliant cast will be Esther Gay, Darwin Law, Gail Johnson, Jim Jensen, Paul Clemmensen, and others to be announced. A new olio is under way.

"Big-Hearted Jim," as well as "Tatters," is under the direction of Ronald Telfer, which is the equivalent of promising a professional production.

What are you doing Tomorrow?

It's quite likely that you don't need any gas or oil tomorrow. Oddly enough, that's just the reason I wish you would come in and see me tomorrow. You see, you're probably driving less now. A few months ago you probably came in about once a week for gas and oil. And when you did, I checked your tires and the water in your battery. And here's the point. Even if you don't drive much now—your tires and your battery should be checked every week.

So here's my suggestion. Drive in tomorrow, tell your Standard Service Man that you don't need gas or anything, but that you want the battery and tires checked. Then, next week, on the same day, come on in again. Get in the habit of checking tires and battery once every week—gas or no gas. Shall we start tomorrow?

Caps are being Worn this year!

I'm thinking of those little metal caps that fit over the tire valves of your car—and they're a lot more important than most people think. They not only keep dirt out of the valve, but they're the only real protection against sudden valve leakage, and hold up to 260 pounds of pressure. I suggest that you ask your Standard Service Man to replace any that are missing. They cost only a few cents and may save a tire.

Too Much Lubrication can Ruin Your Car!

By all means have your car greased every 1000 miles! But too much grease in some points can cause as much trouble as if it hadn't been greased at all. That's where scientific lubrication comes in. Oil carelessly applied or a wrong product can ruin the ignition system—too much grease can wreck brakes. Play safe by having your car greased by trained Standard Service Men.

Leslie Doolittle Gives Recital After 7 Lessons

After having only seven lessons from his teacher, Emma Evans of Carmel, little Leslie Doolittle, seven years old, played for a group of friends at his home last Sunday afternoon.

Leslie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Doolittle and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watson of San Carlos Street.

Although he has a natural heritage of music, it was amazing to see what this child has accomplished in so short a period. He has a sense of the way things should go. His teacher says he grasps immediately those things which most pupils take months to accomplish.

It will be most interesting to watch his growth and development.

Alexander Dulfers Move

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Dulfers, Evelyn and Imelda, have sold their home on Camino Real and moved to San Francisco for the duration.

Miss Evelyn returned last week from Tahoe Tavern where for the last five weeks she has been the guest of Mrs. Marie Sigall of San Francisco and her daughter, Mitzi. Miss Dulfers brought Miss Sigall down to join the Dulfers for their final Carmel week-end and this week all went up to San Francisco.

The McCabes Are Home

Dr. and Mrs. W. H. McCabe arrived Sunday from a month's vacation at their cottage on Lake Strawberry.

They say they did a lot of sleeping and eating and caught up on their sitting.

They also were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Casey of Hatton Fields and their son, Pat, for several days. Already Mrs. McCabe has plunged into her First Aid activities and next week she commences new classes.

By keeping conversations BRIEF.
By being sure of your number before you call.
By using Long Distance for essential messages ONLY.
By using station-to-station service wherever possible for toll calls.

Your cooperation will aid in this national emergency because the demands of war have loaded our long distance lines and many of our local facilities to capacity and beyond.

Materials required to increase circuits and switchboards cannot be obtained—they must go into the making of weapons and munitions. It is not now possible to build more plant.

Therefore, we all are confronted with the necessity of getting the most out of what we have. In following the above suggestions, you can save yourself time and expense and you will help the way clear for War Messages That Must Go Through.

Dance at Mission

A dance for the soldiers of the 3rd Division was given in Crespi Hall of the Mission Tuesday evening. A gay and enjoyable affair, it was participated in by the pretty girls and charming young matrons of Carmel and a group from Monterey chaperoned by Mrs. Harold Mosher.

Mrs. Ray Brownell and Mrs. Viola Sparks headed the entertainment committee. The table in autumn colors was decorated by Mrs. Carl Rasmussen. Mrs. Marguerite Despard and Mrs. Clara McGowan ably handled the refreshments contributed by the ladies of the parish and of Carmel. A large Victory cake, decorated with the American flag in red, white and blue icing, donated by Mrs. Jane Adams, was cut with an appropriate patriotic ceremony by Chaplain Falter of the 3rd Division. Mrs. William Coughlin presided over the bowl of fruit punch, and the coffee was brewed by Mrs. May McGrury in large coffee pots that never seemed to run dry.

The hostesses were: Mesdames Coughlin, Raymond Brownell, Peter Elliot, Viola Sparks, Marguerite Despard, Clara McGowan, Ruth Cooke, Mary Solari, Walter Duane, Margaret McCauley, Elsie Martinez, May McGrury, Miss Josephine Loesser.

Women Democrats Discuss Candidates Hear Valiant Today

All Democratic women—whether members of the Women's Democratic Club or not—are invited to the club's meeting this afternoon at which Margaret Valiant will speak, "The Importance of the Coming Congressional Elections."

The meeting will be held at 2 p.m. in Sunset School library and will include a discussion of the candidates for the Aug. 25 primaries.

Miss Valiant, who was enthusiastically received when she spoke in Carmel two years ago, has been employed in administrative work for the government for the past six years. She has served as national head of music in the National Youth Administration, and for three years, as traveling assistant for the Farm Security Administration. This work brought her to California for the first time when in 1938 she was sent to inspect the government camps for migratory workers.

Miss Valiant says that she likes California audiences because she finds them so alert, noticeably more alert than those of her native Mississippi.

Among those who will be present to hear Miss Valiant this afternoon will be a group of Democratic women who are coming over from Salinas.

Following the talk there will be an announcement of the work done locally to put the question of cross filing on the ballot. Over three hundred signatures for this referendum were obtained by club members in Carmel. There were not, however, enough signatures collected over the rest of the state to put the matter on the ballot, so that the names will be saved and used again at the next election. Southern California headquarters have written to congratulate Carmel and say that if the rest of the state had worked as hard, the referendum would have been achieved at this election.

La Collecta Hears

About Brazil

Mrs. Clara Nixon presented the program at La Collecta Club's meeting Wednesday, and, following the group's current series on South America, spoke on Brazil.

The birthday of the hostess, Mrs. Vincent Torres, was celebrated, and it was decided to hold the next meeting Aug. 19 at the home of Mrs. Inies Warren.

Swimming Meet at Del Monte

Sunday the Del Monte swimming and diving championship will be held, and around the Roman Plunge many distant parts will be represented.

At the outdoor buffet before the aquatic show, Chalfont St. Peter, England, will be represented by W. J. Woltman who is spending five days at Del Monte.

Mrs. S. F. B. Morse, who is entertaining at luncheon and will bring her guests to the event, will have Hawaii well represented in her party. There will be Mrs. R. A. (Andy) Anderson and Mrs. R. W. Anderson, who are both visiting Mrs. Paul Winslow of Pebble Beach, the former Ruth Anderson of Honolulu.

Also in the Morse party will be Mr. and Mrs. Harten Singer of Pennsylvania. The Singers have returned to Del Monte for the whole summer.

At a table at the buffet luncheon will be Mrs. William Ingram, the former Mary Brown of Greenwich, Conn., who is spending the week-end with the R. I. Bentley Jr.'s of Los Gatos, who have a home in Pebble Beach for the summer.

Ewig Speaks on Legion Ideals at Installation Meet

A Salinas group headed by Deputy Commander McMillan installed into office the new officers of Carmel's American Legion. For the first time in the history of this post the Auxiliary was invited to attend the ceremonies.

E. H. Ewig, new commander, spoke on the significance of the preamble to the legion constitution, more apropos to these times than ever before.

Other new officers are: E. F. Morehouse, first vice commander, Otto Bardarson second, C. F. Haskell, sergeant at arms.

Col. T. B. Taylor, Major Wm. Kneass, Ernest Schweninger and Wm. A. Burke make up the executive committee.

League Invites You to Question Candidates At Aug. 20 Rally

For all citizens who wish to have a look at the candidates for whom they will vote in the Aug. 25 primaries and to hear what they have to say, the League of Women Voters will hold a political preview Aug. 20 in the picturesque Memory Garden, near the Custom House, in Monterey.

All candidates from this district have been invited to attend and, after short talks, will answer questions from the floor. Anyone with a question will have an opportunity to present it, the Women Voters state.

The rally will begin with a luncheon to be served by the Monterey-Pacific Grove Canteen Unit of the Red Cross with reservations being taken by Mrs. Lee Kellogg, Carmel 1027, and Miss Ardelia Work.

Program Given for All Saints' Recital

The fifth in a series of Sunday afternoon organ recitals will be given at All Saints Church this Sunday afternoon at four o'clock with Alice Lee Keith at the console.

This week's program will be made up of Mendelssohn selections and will include:

"Chorale and Andante con moto" from 5th Organ Sonata.

"War March of the Priests of Athalie."

"Two Songs Without Words."

There is no charge, and all music lovers are invited to attend.

Bob Ritchie Dies After "Covering" World 40 Years

London with whom he edited the school paper on which London received his first by-line. He told Ritchie how for years he had pictured and dreamed of his name in print and said the event must be celebrated. He went out and bought himself a drink but, Ritchie, he said, was too young. London had already taken part in the mutiny against the brutal captain whom he was to call "The Sea Wolf," and he confided to Ritchie that the crew had not only left the captain on a South Sea island but had beaten and tied him to a tree before they sailed away. Ritchie on his part suspected that London was too young to have been allowed to participate in anything of the kind and had probably remained on the ship. A few years later, the two writers did have a drink together when they met in Shanghai.

First Abalone Umpire

To the end of his life, Ritchie kept the same romantic outlook with which, as a young University of California graduate, and a cub reporter on the old San Francisco Call, he set out on his adventures with a one way ticket to Japan.

Ritchie was born in Quincy, Ill., June 17, 1879, and grew up in Oakland. He came to Carmel with his wife, Jean Knight of New York, in time to be the first officially elected umpire for the Abalone League and to make this his home between trips around the world.

Many of his books were written here. He wrote Dust of the Desert (1922), Drums of Doom (1923), Stairway of the Sun (1924), Deep Furrows (1927), Hell-Roarin' Forty-Niners (1928), Wheat (1935), and, in collaboration with Earl Derr Biggers, Behind the Lines (1915). Ritchie's short stories appeared in magazines which included the Saturday Evening Post.

Last Assignment

Beside various newspaper assignments around the world, Ritchie headed the Hearst news bureau in London for three years. In the late 'thirties he went to Washington to help administer the information department of the Farm Credit administration.

Ritchie belonged to the Family Club of San Francisco and the Adventurers of New York and to Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. He had friends all over the world beside the many deep and lasting friendships which he made in Carmel.

Sunday when he realized that the end of his life was near, Ritchie fell into newspaper parlance to say to his wife that the leads were coming in fast but this time he couldn't cover them. And Jean Ritchie reminded him of all the times she had packed his bag for an assignment and how many times she had wondered if he would get back, and they smiled in tacit agreement to think of this as "just another assignment."

Final services were held Wednesday at Freeman-Rancadore in Monterey with the Rev. C. J. Hulse officiating. Cremation followed.

Ritchie, who was the son of the late Rev. Robert Ritchie, is survived by his wife, his mother, who lives in Oakland, and three sisters, Mrs. J. E. Jacobsen of Berkeley, Mrs. Margaret Read of Oakland, and Mrs. Helen Reinhardt of Beverly Hills. —Elizabeth Paine.

vices, renewed her petition that the city council grant permission for dancing in the officer's club at the Pine Inn. The council refused on the grounds that it was bound by its own ordinance which prohibits dancing on the premises where liquor is sold.

Mrs. Howard Smith and Mrs. Leland Cagwin also represented AWVS.

Councilman P. A. McCreery presided for Mayor Keith Evans who was absent at a special CD meeting for the earlier part of the session.

When the mayor arrived at the council meeting he presented a communication from the priorities board denying the city permission to build a jail.

The meeting was adjourned until August 25.

Commander and Mrs. Howard Nixon Coulter and Dukie set off Monday for southern California where Commander Coulter will take charge of an air station.

The Coulters have been the guests of the Dean Coverts for a week and Dukie was the honor guest at an informal party Sunday evening at the Elizaldes.

Our Farmers Fight the War with ELECTRIC POWER

THERE'S AN ARMY in California that never smells the smoke of battle, yet is waging a determined offensive to help win the war. It is our battalions of farmers, marshalled in every fertile valley, producing food stores by the shipload for the sustenance of our armed forces and those of the United Nations. The farm troops fight with modern weapons, chief of which is Electric Power. California's agriculturists lead those of all other states in the United States in their employment of Electricity for bigger and better crops.

In the 46 counties into which P.G. & E. lines extend, there are 77,181 farms within one-quarter mile of an electric distribution line. Of this total, 95.9% have electric service for the lighting of buildings and operation of a legion of time and labor saving machines and appliances.

Better than nine out of every ten farms in the territory we serve are increasing their production of vegetables, fruits, grains, poultry and livestock, with the aid of tireless and efficient electrical helpers. This means much in this day when every able bodied man is needed for military service or industrial labor.

For many years this Company has been building its agricultural service—extending lines, improving service, reducing rates, making available to every rural district the advantages of Electricity for farm operation.

The war emergency now finds Agriculture here fully equipped electrically to provide record breaking supplies of victory foods.

Bluejackets' Thrift Sale Opens Today

The Bundles for Bluejackets' Thrift and White Elephant Sale for the benefit of our American Sailors, opens this morning in Eustace former Linen Shop on Dolores Street.

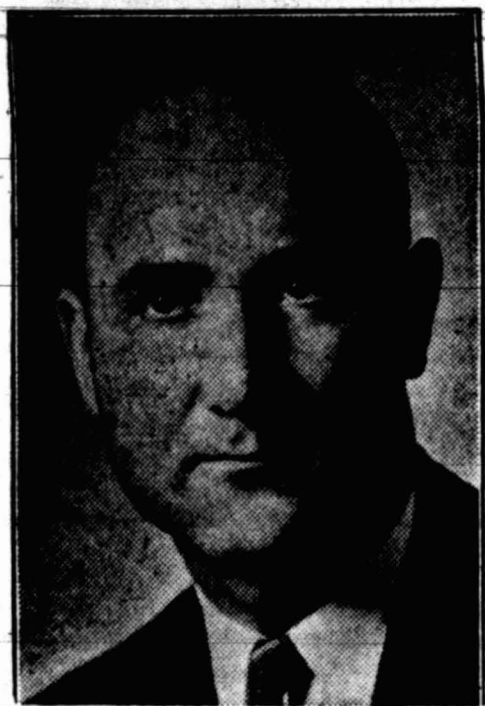

The store has been converted into a novel and attractive show room, tables everywhere, on which are displayed articles of unusual interest. On the White Elephant table there are unique, modern pieces, and antiques, some hundreds of years old, which are of value and unimpaired; fine specimens of workmanship for your own home or as gifts to friends.

The costume jewelry is not just "something else the same," but selected pieces worth having, especially, as soon, there won't be any more things of this kind manufactured.

The flower corner is filled with beautiful potted plants and cut flowers and bouquets, and a quaint note added, near by, fresh vegetables are for sale, from a Carmel Victory garden.

The contributions of food, especially the Spanish beans and a fruit punch, keeps the food committee as busy as the salesmen showing the lovely wearing apparel on display, among which are two or three quarter length fur coats, one a fine mink, in splendid condition and both an opportunity in value.

The sale will continue through Saturday and probably on Monday the 10th. It will be to your

GEORGE OUTLAND

Candidate for Congress Aug. 25

"We must wage total war, win total victory, seek total peace."

YOU & CONGRESS

Why blame Congress only? Don't forget it was your careless vote and mine that sent the wrong men there. I'm doing my bit to make amends. And you can help.

I voted for Willkie for President, but I'm spending time and money to help send Outland, a Democrat, to Congress. And why? Because I can forget politics when I see a "natural" for this crisis.

For his broad knowledge in the fields of Government and International Relations, Harvard and Yale gave Outland high degrees. He is too well informed to vote ignorantly; too broad-gauged to vote for political animosities first and his country second.

Raised on a California ranch, Outland knows the problems of the farm, that backbone of our state. Experienced in 7 years of well-fare work he knows the good and bad of city government. A trained executive. Eloquent and fearless, he will be a power in Congress.

Voters, do you really want bigger men in Congress? Want it enough to help pay for more Outland ads? If so, mail check of any size to Willard W. Wheeler, Pebble Beach.

ABSENTEE BALLOTS NOW AVAILABLE

Anyone who will be out of town Aug. 18, the date of the fire truck bond election, is urged by City Clerk Saidee Van Brower to use an absentee ballot.

Absentee votes may be cast from now through Aug. 13. Voters may obtain and fill out their absentee ballots at the city clerk's office, Dolores and Seventh, any week-day between the hours of 10:30 a.m. to 12, and 1 p.m. to 4.

advantage to replenish your wardrobe, if needed, and you will be contributing to the Bundles for Bluejackets war aid work in our National emergency as well.

Dedication

Julius Caesar, the opening production of this year's Festival, is dedicated to Henry F. Dickinson, who made the great columns for the first Carmel presentation of Julius Caesar, in 1930. Those columns have long since fallen, but the tall figure of their builder remains a gracious part of the Carmel scene.

For fifteen years President of the Forest Theater Society, a vital force in its management, a keen and competent worker on sets and props and the many unseen wheels of production, Harry Dickinson has contributed abundantly to the community drama of Carmel.

His work in civic life is notable, tending always to the general good and a kind and just interpretation of the laws of human right.

In tragic times like these, such citizens—deeply loyal to their country and their fellow men—are of more than usual worth to their community and to America. —Herbert Heron.

Three Fires Doused By Rapid Action Of Volunteers

Three fires broke out in Carmel this week, one at Fire Commissioner Fred McIndoe's home. Both were rapidly extinguished by the fire department.

Tuesday the roof of Sade's took fire, ignited by a fire in the flue from the range. The firemen estimated damage at $100.

Firemen who responded to the alarm were: Chief Vincent Torres, Bill Askew, Barney Bacrisco, Bob Erickson, Alec Gibson, Harry Hilbert, Vernon Hitchcock, Dave Machado, Paul Mercurio, Fred Mylar, Gene Ricketts, Cedric Rowntree, Roy Walls, Fred Warren, Dick Watson, Del Wermuth, John Weigold.

Grass in Fred McIndoe's garden at San Antonio and Seventh was set on fire Monday by small boys playing with matches, according to the fire department.

On Thursday noon the department responded to a call to put out a grass fire on First and Carpenter.

CD, Police to Enforce New Dim-Out Orders

(Continued from page 1) same as those of the former dim-out: motorists using roads and streets visible from the sea are to drive with parking lights in BOTH directions, when moving away from the sea as well as when moving toward it; dwelling and store windows to be masked so as not to cast light seaward.

New elements are the masking of signs in the designated area (all the coastal area inland as far as Stockton and Sacramento) so that no light is permitted to be cast upward to form a "mush-room" of light against the clouds or fog; and the fact that legal difficulties are now cleared up so that the order can be enforced.

The order will effect little change in conditions here, according to Mayor Evans, C. D. head, because most of the people have been co-operating voluntarily in making successful the first dim out order. A few business houses may have to dim their windows should it be found that they cast light upward.

On the 20th of August, when the new order goes into effect, Carmel block wardens will turn out to check on the response. Those failing to comply within the incorporated area will be turned over to the Carmel police; outside the city limits, offenders will be turned over to the sheriff's office.

Complete understanding and agreement among law enforcement officers and C. D. officials of the Peninsula was reached regarding the regulation at a meeting Wednesday in Monterey. Mayor Evans and Councilman P. A. McCreery attended from Carmel.

KITTEN, PLEASE COME HOME

A three-months-old Maltese cat with a white star under his chin has been lost in the region of La Playa hotel.

He disappeared two weeks ago

Everything Gets On Police Cards

Two soldiers "grabbed at" a girl in front of the library. The girl escaped but the soldiers did not. They were turned over to military authorities by the Carmel Police.
